

MON June 13

Ch. 77) This poem sings of faith that grows more mature in the midst of suffering. What should we do when faced with difficult situations and questioning whether God has forgotten and forsaken us (verses 7-9)? "I will appeal to this, to the years of the right hand of the Most High. I will (.....) the deeds of the LORD; yes, I will (.....) your wonders of old."

Ch. 78) This poem delivers spiritual lessons to future generations through the history of Israel from Moses to David. Write in words what kind of sin the Israelites committed toward God in this psalm. (Example) Stubbornness and rebellion (verse 8) Rejection (verse 10)

Ch. 79) The poem is Asaph's poem written in the background of the fall of Jerusalem by the Babylonian army, and it appeals to God for salvation. How many times does the poet ask for revenge on those who slander the Lord?

Ch. 80) This poem is a poem by Asaph written in the background of the defeat of northern Israel by the Assyrians. How does the poet say in verse 3 that God's salvation is accomplished?

1) What we do:

2) What God does:

TUE June 14

Ch. 81) This psalm was written to be sung during national feasts such as the Passover or the Feast of Tabernacles. Find and write the verse in which the first commandment of the Ten Commandments recorded in this poem is written.

Ch. 82) This poem is a poem that calls for justice and fairness. What kind of people it is telling us to be fair and take care of them?

Ch. 83) This poem is a poem that appeals to judgment on the enemies of the chosen people. What kind of confession does the poet hope for in the end when the enemies who are trying to attack the people of Israel are defeated and destroyed?(Hints 16 and 18)

Ch. 84) This poem is a song of longing for the Temple of God. Where does the poet confess that it is better and more blessed to live than to live in the tents of the wicked?

WED June 15

Ch. 85) This psalm is a poem of thanksgiving for the return of the Babylonian captivity. What does it say that God, who has forgiven the sins of His people and brought them back, is speaking to His people and His saints?

Ch. 86) This psalm is David's prayer poem that reveals the secret of David's overcoming adversity. In this prayer poem, we can discover the nature of God helping His people who are struggling. Write the disposition of God recorded in verse 15.

Ch. 87) This poem was written to give courage to the people who are disappointed that the newly rebuilt Temple after the Babylonian captivity is not as good as before. What must be the word in the blank? "the LORD loves the gates of (.....) more than all the dwelling places of Jacob. And of (.....) it shall be said, "This one and that one were born in her"; for the Most High himself will establish her."

Ch. 88) This poem is Heman's mourning poem, voicing physical pain, religious pain, and social pain. If the poet calls out to the Lord day and night (v. 1), when does the poet confess that prayer will come before the Lord? (It can be assumed that the poet is in a very difficult situation.)

Ch. 89) This poem is a poem by Ethan, one of the choir conductors in David's time. Write the covenant God gave to David, which is repeated in verses 4 and 21 of this psalm.

THU June 16

Ch. 90) This psalm is Moses' prayer poem, and Moses, the leader of the Exodus, confesses his finite life before God and asks for God's mercy. The poet confesses that our years are seventy, and even if we are strong, but what does the poet say be proud of?

Ch. 91) This psalm sings of the safety and joy of those under God's protection. How does God respond to our actions toward Him?

1) If we love God-

2) If we know the name of God-

3) If we ask God-

Ch. 92) Based on personal experience of salvation, this psalm praises God's faithful providence and honest action. Why can the righteous prosper like a palm tree and grow like a cedar in Lebanon?

Ch. 93) The psalm sings of the reign of Jehovah God, which is firm and eternal. What's bigger than the sound of a lot of water and the big waves in the sea?

FRI June 17

Ch. 94) In this psalm, the psalmist appeals to God for a righteous judgment against the wicked who unjustly oppress the righteous and the weak. Find and write the blessings of those who are punished by the Lord, and are instructed by His Laws.

Ch. 95) Psalms 95-100 are verses of worship and praise used in the temple worship. Why do we sing and worship God and kneel before Jehovah? (Hint verses 3 and 7)

Ch. 96) In this poem, the whole world expresses the song and praise of the Lord. "Let the heavens be (.....), and let the earth (.....); let the sea (.....), and all that fills it; let the field (.....), and everything in it! Then shall all the trees of the forest (.....)"

Ch. 97) What does Jehovah God sow for the righteous and for the upright in heart?

SAT June 18

Ch. 98) Find and write instruments used when praising God in this poem.

Ch. 99) In this psalm, write the names of three people who had conversations with God and kept the testimonies and the statute God gave them.

Ch. 100) Memorize and write verse 3 of this psalm. (Let us pray that these words will become a confession of our faith.)

Ch. 101) This psalm contains the confession of King David of Israel that he will make his ruling philosophy 'steadfast love and justice'. Who was the person David specifically said he would destroy and would not tolerate? (Hint verse 5)

Ch. 102) This poem is a song of lamentation of the Babylonian captivity by an anonymous author. "They will perish, but you will (.....); they will all wear out like a garment. You will change them like a robe, and they will pass away, but you are the same, and your years have (.....)." Praise be to God, who exists forever and is ever faithful.